

Raymond A. Jackson, MAI, CRE, President

Mr. Jackson has been actively involved in the real estate appraising, counseling and brokerage field for over thirty years. He is a "hands on" working officer of the company, being responsible for completion of, or coordination of the major studies generated by the firm.

Raymond A. Jackson received his MAI designation from the Appraisal Institute in 1985. The Counselors of Real Estate conferred upon him the CRE designation in 1993. He is called upon to help provide well supported advice for use in decision making, negotiations, or litigation for a myriad of major clients. Besides having qualified as an expert witness in various jurisdictions, he is an Adjunct Professor at the University of Cincinnati, having taught and developed various classes for three different colleges over the last 20 years. In addition, he is also a real estate broker in both the State of Ohio and in the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

The Appraisal Institute has a mandatory educational program, and Raymond A. Jackson is currently certified. The States of Ohio and Kentucky have voluntary certification programs, and Mr. Jackson is certified as a General Appraiser in both.
